

SUN Automation Group 66 Loveton Circle Sparks, MD 21152 Phone: 410-472-2900

Fax: 410-472-2907

May 28, 2013

Technical Director
Financial Accounting Standards Board
401 Merritt 7
PO Box 5116
Norwalk, CT 06856-5116

Re: File Reference No. 2013- 260

Impact of required disclosures under Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2011-04 on private companies with ESOP ownership ("private ESOP companies")

Sun Automation Inc. is a privately held, 100% owned ESOP company. We respectfully request FASB exempt employer securities held by ESOPs and other non-public employee benefit plans (benefit plans other than those required to file financial statements with the SEC on Form 11-K) from the quantitative and qualitative disclosures required for Level 2 and Level 3 fair value measurements required under ASC 820-10-50 as amended by ASU 2011-04 (specifically paragraphs 820-10-50-2-bbb, f and g).

In May 2011, the FASB issued ASU 2011-04 which proposes adding additional disclosure requirements with respect to Level 3 fair value measurements. This would include employer securities held by an ESOP as well as other types of employee benefit plans. As further explained below, these new disclosure requirements negatively affect existing private ESOP companies by disclosing Company confidential information to the public that can be used by competitors and customers to damage the goodwill and vitality of the Company, and can give insight to the operations of the company, its financial condition, and the process and methodology for determining the fair value of the employer securities.

For fair value measurements categorized within Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy, ASU 2011-04 requires the disclosure of i) quantitative information about the unobservable inputs used in determining fair value and ii) the valuation process and methodologies used in determining fair value. Specifically, the Standard requires the disclosure to include quantitative information about the significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement. To comply with these new requirements, we understand the nature of these disclosures could include items such as i) the weighted average cost of capital used in the discount cash flow method, ii) pricing multiplies applied (i.e., price to earnings, revenue multiples, etc.), iii) operating margins, iv) long-term revenue growth rates, and v) other sensitive information. This is consistent with the example in the implementation guidance and illustrations included within the Standard. Although these disclosures are required for each class of assets or liabilities, generally, the investment in the Sponsor's equity securities is the only Level 3 measurement in the financial statements of an ESOP and therefore there is only one asset within the class. Therefore, the information disclosed would be specific to the entity, and disclosing a range or weighted average does not appear to be an available option.

These disclosures would provide the public with information regarding private ESOP companies that otherwise would not be available. Collectively, these disclosures could allow readers to recreate a financial picture of the company. In the hands of competitors, customers and suppliers, this information could be damaging to the company and ultimately its employee-owners. Even more threatening may be the ability of corporate raiders to precisely ascertain the financial condition of otherwise private companies, enabling them to launch takeovers which ultimately work to the detriment of employeeowners who could lose the opportunity to own their companies. We are also concerned about other unforeseen negative consequences as a result of making such information publicly available. Ultimately, we believe it is important to keep this type of information as it relates to private ESOP companies just that-private.

We believe the primary user of employee benefit plan financial statements is the DOL in fulfilling its regulatory responsibilities. The DOL has always had and will continue to have the ability to interact directly with company management to answer questions or to obtain additional information related to Level 3 fair value measurements. Plan participants may also be viewed as potential users of the plans financial statements. By law, they have historically had the ability to obtain copies of the plan financial statements but have rarely done so. However, by law, participants are not required to receive financial information regarding the company. Participants are also not entitled to receive information regarding the company valuation. We believe that the disclosure of this information provides little or no practical value to the primary users of the financial statements but, in the long run, in fact will harm existing and potential plan participants as discussed above because it may harm their companies and discourage the creation of new plans. We therefore believe the cost outweighs the benefits associated with this disclosure.

It is our hope that FASB did not develop ASU 2011-04 with the intent of making said information publicly available, and that this is merely an unintended consequence of its broader scope.

On behalf of the 130 employees of our private ESOP company, we respectfully request FASB exempt employer securities held by ESOPs and other non-public employee benefit plans (benefit plans other than those required to file financial statements with the SEC on Form 11-K) from the quantitative and qualitative disclosures required for Level 2 and Level 3 fair value measurements required under ASC 820-10-50 as amended by ASU 2011-04 (specifically paragraphs 820-10-50-2-bbb, f and g). We also respectfully request FASB give immediate attention to this matter, as the disclosure requirements under ASU 2011-04 take effect for non-public entities for periods beginning on or after December 15, 2011 (calendar years ending December 31, 2012) and employee benefit plans generally must file their Form 5500s with the Department of Labor within seven months of their year end.

We sincerely appreciate the opportunity to share our concerns with FASB and hope that FASB will protect ESOP Company confidential information.

Sincerely,

1- Winter Amille M. Christine Sinelli

Director of Finance and Administration